SAYS WIFE FAILS TO PROVIDE

Age of Suffrage Reverses Conditions When Berkeley Husband Sues Spouse

Woman Drummer Keeps Household Going; Not Asked to Pay Alimony

In one of the most unusual divorce suits ever filed in the Alameda courts, A. J. Bledsoe, a well-known San Francisco attorney, whose home is in Berkeley, charged his wife, a commercial traveler, with failing to support their children and asked that the family home at 1415 Grove street, Berkeley, be awarded to himself and his children.

Bledsoe did not ask that his wife be compelled to pay alimony, but the long complaint contained the statement that the wife had made the money, had paid for the family home and was possessed of a large sum of money, the result of her activities as a commercial saleswoman on the road.

The complaint charged the wife with continually snubbing the husband, of boasting of her position as the family money-maker, and of extreme cruelty to the plaintiff and the latter's mother, Mrs. Kate Bledsoe, who died at the age of 94 in 1910.

HUSBY PROTESTS.
According to the complaint, Mrs. Bledsoe became a drummer on May 1, 1904, leaving the Berkeley home against the protests of the husband. Since that time the husband charges that he has been compelled to "mother" his two little boys, Anthony and Huntington Bledsoe, and that the mother failed to "properly care for and assist in the support" of the children.

The wife is accused of trying to induce her husband to send his aged mother, a few years before her death, to the poor house, though the complaint sets forth that Mrs. Bledsoe Sr. was at that time in the possession of all her faculties and was assisting her son in the care of the children.

The wife's profession as drummer took her to New York frequently and throughout the state of California, so that she was only at home two months in each year. At that time, according to Bledsoe, she made his life miserable by her abuse of the aged mother and by charging her husband with infidelity and general incompetency.

On several occasions, when Mrs. Bledsoe Sr. was falling in health and at one time particularly, when she had suffered a painful burn, Bledsoe says he called in Dr. Robert Hector of Berkeley to attend his mother, but that his wife told the physician that the mother did not need a doctor, that "she thinks she is suffering, but she is not."

CALLED TO NEW YORK.
During the month of February, 1910, Bledsoe testifies he had to go to New York on business matters and that he instructed Dr. Hector to call on his

'U.S. Not Only Country Worth Living In': Smith
Professor Discourages Boasting by Americans of Nation's Civilization.

CHICAGO, July 22.—The inclination of the American citizen to boast that his country is the "only country really worth living in" was condemned by Professor Albion W. Smith of the University of Chicago, last night in an address at Sinai Temple.

"We must remember that other nations were making rapid strides toward civilization, higher art and greater culture while America was still pulling stumps," he said.

The pessimist who continually cries that the country is going to ruin was also criticized by the speaker. His subject was "Some Constructive Forces in American Life."

BRUGUIERE SUED BY EX-WIFE

San Francisco Woman Declares Physician's Divorce Is Null and Void

Wants $250 Monthly for Her Support and $150 for That of Their Son

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Mrs. Myron Bruguiere, who was married in Reno, Nev., in 1902 to Dr. Peter S. Bruguiere, a local physician, society and clubman, filed suit this morning for separate maintenance. In connection with the action comes the sensational charge that Bruguiere obtained a divorce from his wife June 29, 1906, which Mrs. Bruguiere asserts is null and void and contrary to law.

In consequence of her firm belief that she was never legally separated from the physician the complainant asserts that she obtained an annulment of her marriage to Stewart Denning of New York and returned to San Francisco. She now wants $250 a month for her own support, $150 for the support of her son, Peter Bruguiere Jr., who was born September 6, 1902, $500 counsel fees and $100 costs.

INCOME OF $200.
She alleges that Dr. Bruguiere is in receipt of an income of $200 a month in addition to an allowance of a $300 a month which he receives from his mother. She charges that the divorce which he is said to have obtained at Reno is illegal and that she was never served with the summons, although she was a resident at the St. Francis hotel in this city.

The Bruguieres were married in 1902, very shortly after the doctor had obtained a divorce from his former wife, Madeline Bruguiere. The California law prohibits its re-marriage until a year after the decree and so the couple went to Reno, where on December 21 the ceremony took place. They returned to San Francisco.

ACCUSES HUSBAND.
On July 21, 1904, Mrs. Bruguiere says, her spouse so conducted himself that it became necessary for her to leave him and for her to live in the greater part of the city of San Francisco.

Mrs. Bruguiere set forth that his making his home there was only pretended, as he lived here the greater part of the time. Nevertheless, it is claimed on September 16, 1905, he told the court that he had been in Nevada six months and was given a divorce. The wife was not served with a summons, she says, because it was represented to the clerk that she was out of the state and living in this city.

AGAIN MARRIES.
Mrs. Bruguiere further states that she was informed in 1907 that the doctor had again married on July 20, 1907, at Atlantic City, New Jersey. She was wedded to Stewart Denning. Subsequently she was informed that the Nevada decree obtained by Dr. Bruguiere, divorcing her, was invalid. She consulted with counsel and was advised that by a decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of Haddock vs. Haddock, she was still the lawful wife of Dr. Bruguiere.

On January, 1910, she began a suit in the Supreme Court of New York for an annulment of her marriage to Denning, and this was given to referee Henry M. Earle. The evidence was such that the annulment was granted March 30, 1910.

Now Mrs. Bruguiere declares that she is entitled to separate maintenance from the physician, that for three years he has failed to provide her with the necessities of life.

Dr. Bruguiere has offices at 123 Geary street and resides with his present wife at 2231 Franklin street, in this city. His mother, from whom he is said to receive the allowance, is a wealthy society woman of New York city.

Number 1 engine, the new auto chemical, responded to a call and the fire was quickly put out after damage amounting to less than $100 had been done. The fire started in the dry shingles of the roof of the northeast corner of the old building which adjoins the steel structure which is to form the new city hall.

The fire was discovered by workmen on the city hall. Clarke and stenographers in the city hall were not aware of the fire until the apparatus began to arrive, when they clustered at the windows to see where the fire might be.

MARVEL AT OAKLAND'S WORK

Sacramento Commissioners Praise Local Government for Progress

Visit of Bliss and Wilder Object Lesson for Those Who Will Go to Polls

Charles A. Bliss, Commissioner of Public Health and Safety, and E. M. Wilder, Commissioner of Public Works, both of Sacramento, were arrivals in Oakland Saturday night, bearing credentials from the new commission government of the capital city. Wilder's presence was of more than the usual interest to Oakland as he is the son of the late A. D. Wilder, who was for so many years the division superintendent of the Western division of the Southern Pacific Railroad, with headquarters at the Oakland pier.

The presence of Bliss and Wilder, the object of their visit and what they saw, did and said, is an object lesson in the recall campaign, a lesson that should teach the voters of Oakland what is being jeopardized by the Socialists and members of the I. W. W. in their campaign against the city. It is a lesson that should make every one of these voters hurry to the polls on August 5 and vote to retain in office an administration that has made Oakland the object of admiration of government officials from all over the country.

The Sacramento men came to Oakland to study the government of this city, and left saying that if they could give to Sacramento a government that was as satisfactory, as honest, as capable and as productive of results, that they would be satisfied that their first terms as commissioners for that city were not wasted. The two were taken over the city by different officials, and at the end of their visit announced that they would return with all of the officials of their city for a complete inspection of all departments as conducted by the present Oakland administration.

SEE PUBLIC WORKS.
The two Sacramento officials were shown all of the great public works that are now in progress in the city of Oakland, from the City Hall, which is just beginning to take shape, to the improvements that have been made around Lake Merritt, where utility is combined with art as in the municipal salt water pumping plant, and Lakeview Park, which is beginning to rival anything of its size in the state. They were shown the site of the new auditorium, which was for so many years an unsightly marsh, and the plans for the building were inspected. They were taken to the western waterfront and shown the work actually in progress there, and the work that has been done along the southern front and in the East Oakland basin.

The playground system of the city was carefully inspected and they were shown thousands of happy children at play in the various parks under the care of a competent instructor, and of attendants that watched as carefully as a parent for their needs and small injuries. Wilder was particularly interested in the work at the De Fremery Park in West Oakland.

Son of Dr. Sun Yat Sen To Enter State University

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—When the fall semester opens at the University of California the name of Sun Fo, son of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, head of the revolutionary movement which overthrew the Manchu dynasty in China, and provisional president of the new republic after the emperor was deposed, will be on the roster of students. Young Sun is 20 years of age. The boy is at present visiting friends at Honolulu with his two sisters, Sun Yuen and Sun On, 17 and 15 years old respectively. Word was sent to prominent Chinese in this city today by friends of the family that the three Sun children would arrive in about two weeks. The Sun girls will enter some private seminary. It is not known what course of studies the boy will pursue.

Three Women Drown in Great Electrical Storm

NELSON, B. C., July 22.—Three persons are said to have been drowned on Kootenay lake last night in a severe electrical storm. Houses and street cars were struck by lightning here and row boats and launches were driven on the rocks. Launch owners reported that they saw a boat in which were three women, capsized in a severe electrical storm. Houses and street cars were struck by lightning and the names of those missing have not been ascertained.

Senators May Send Home for Their Winter Clothes

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Senator Warren, chairman of the appropriations committee, informed senators today that they "might as well send for their winter clothes" if greater appropriation bills. The Senate this morning began the fifth day's work on the $150,000,000 sundry civil appropriation bill with the hope of completing it with the hope of completing it by the bill tonight.

Gov. Deneen to Support Taft for Presidency

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 22.—The committee of five Progressive Republicans of the Illinois legislature, which is waiting on Governor Deneen and Secretary of State Deneen to decide whether he would support Taft or Roosevelt for President were informed by the Governor today that he considered Taft the regular nominee of the party and that he felt obligated to support him as such he felt obligated to support him.

Johnson to Take Platform For Illinois Progressives

SACRAMENTO, July 22.—Governor Hiram W. Johnson announced today he would accept the invitation of the Illinois progressives and take part in campaign speeches in that state next month. Invitations from Utah, Kansas, Colorado, and Washington asking the governor to come and make speeches have been declined as he will not have the time to go into other states.

ILL-HEALTH GIVEN AS REASON

Accused Washington Jurist Quits Bench While Under Fire in North

Testimony Taken by the House Committee Has Cast Shadow on Official

SEATTLE, July 22.—United States District Judge Cornelius H. Hanford, whose conduct on the bench has been under investigation for almost a month by a subcommittee of the House judiciary committee, telegraphed his resignation today to President Taft. Judge Hanford gives ill health as the reason for the resignation.

The testimony thus far taken has been in support of charges that Judge Hanford was addicted to excessive use of alcoholic stimulants and that he made use of his power as a judge to further enterprises in which he had a direct financial interest.

Members of the House committee assembled at an unusually early hour, prepared to continue the hearing, but the committee was not called to order. In a short time the committee and Judge Hanford's counsel adjourned to an afternoon session. The nervous air about the six men and the allegations gave a hint that important conferences were in progress.

JUDGE ON THE BENCH.
Meanwhile Judge Hanford was seated on the bench in an adjoining room listening to a motion calendar. He seemed to be under no greater strain than for weeks.

Chairman Graham of the committee left the building about 9:15 and then told reporters that when the committee reassembled it would immediately take a recess. By this time a rumor that the judge had resigned was in circulation, caused by the extraordinary use of the word "resignation" in the afternoon.

At Judge Hanford's chambers the

RESIGNATION IS GREAT SURPRISE

Judge Hanford's Action Entirely Unexpected by Investigating Committee.

Judge's son, Ned, told newspaper men that his father had resigned and was preparing a statement of his reasons. The judge sat calmly at his desk writing in his painstaking long-hand explanation of the motives that had impelled his action.

COMMITTEE TAKES RECESS.

Chairman Graham returned to the building, called the committee to order and said:

"Gentlemen, some conditions have arisen which make it necessary to take a short recess. The committee will be in recess until 2 o'clock. Witnesses who have been subpoenaed will be here at that time."

Chairman Graham said to newspaper men:

"The committee has not a word to say. It has no official information concerning anything which may have taken place."

To "denial" question put by a reporter as to whether the resignation of a judge who was under investigation would relieve the committee from further duty, Chairman Graham declined to answer.

JURIST MAKES STATEMENT.

Judge Hanford's statement to the public follows:

"The almost constant strain under which I have worked for more than twenty-two years has taxed but not exhausted my power of endurance. I am not likely to have a vacation or rest, but a change of occupation will be a welcome relief. I intend to practice law in Seattle."

"In the investigation which has been conducted by a sub-committee of the House of Representatives much testimony has been given by witnesses who know me and by others who do not. I am grateful for the commendation of those who have spoken and written in my favor, and for the criticism of those who have not. I only wish to say that I would be ashamed of myself if I had not incurred the enmity of such people as they are. A judge is never so sure of being right as when his work has been criticized, unfairly, and without boasting, in view of all that might be said and may be said of concerning myself and my work. I am glad that my record is what it is."

WASHINGTON SURPRISED.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Word of the resignation of Judge Hanford was received here with surprise. Members of the House judiciary committee declined to say whether the resignation would be considered in the dropping of the case.

Representative Berger, the Socialist member from Wisconsin, who introduced the resolution that began the impeachment of Judge Hanford, announced that he would drop the matter.

"It closes the case so far as I am concerned," he said. "I take Judge Hanford's resignation as an admission of guilt. It cannot be construed otherwise. I was fighting corruption on the bench. Generally not Hanford personally. I never knew the man."

Judge Hanford's resignation was received at the White House as President Taft was starting for the golf links. The telegram to the President read as follows:

"I hereby resign my office as United States district judge. Letter will confirm."

President Taft will take no action until the letter reaches Washington. President conference known to have been held by the President, Senator Jones and Representative Humphrey of Washington in the last week has caused a report today that Humphrey might be considered for Judge Hanford's place.

Chairman Clayton of the House judiciary committee today received a letter from the sub-committee investigating Judge Hanford's conduct, announcing the judge's resignation, stating that the sub-committee favored ending the inquiry and asking for instructions.

PHYSICIANS PREJUDICED

Notwithstanding the fact that a very large percentage of doctors' prescriptions call for proprietary medicines, because they can find nothing better, they are naturally prejudiced against the direct sale of their family medicine because it decreases their income.

However this may be the general public is interested by the fact that such medicines as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as I have known for thousands of grateful women on me at the Pinkham Laboratory, at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured of all kinds of ailments by its use. It is prescribed by the best doctors and is found to be a true remedy.

TRUSTS NOT T. R. AID: SCOTT

Former Senator Declares No Corporation Subscriptions Were Given to Roosevelt

"As Far as I Can Recall," Is Modification Placed on Claims

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Former Senator Nathan B. Scott of West Virginia told the Senate committee investigating campaign funds of 1904 and 1908, today, that no contributions were made to Colonel Roosevelt's campaign by corporations, by Henry Havemeyer, the sugar king, or by any representatives of the International Harvester company, so far as he could recall.

Scott testified that the largest contribution of which he had knowledge made to the national committee in that campaign was his own, amounting to $30,000.

George W. Perkins, he said, had given $15,000, but not to the national committee. Both contributions were used in the West Virginia State campaign.

"In October, 1904," Scott said, "Mr. Perkins asked me the situation in West Virginia, and I told him we had a very hard fight for Governor, and that it was doubtful whether we could elect William O. Dawson. Perkins said, as a friend of President Roosevelt, he would be very sorry to see the State go Democratic and make the contribution."

NO HARVESTER MONEY.

Scott said none of the "Harvester people" had contributed to the 1904 campaign.

"How about the Perkins contribution?" said Senator Clapp.

"Well, I understand that what Mr. Perkins contributed was a personal matter," said Scott, "because of the personal relations that existed between him and President Roosevelt."

"Was Mr. Perkins at that time a member of J. P. Morgan & Co.?" asked Senator Payner.

"I don't know anything about that matter," said the witness.

"TRUSTS STAYED OUT."

Scott said he knew of no one connected with the steel, oil or beef "trusts" who had given anything to the campaign. It has been the settled policy of George B. Cortright and Cornelius V. Burs, as the heads of the committee, to make it known that no such contributions would be received, he said.

"My own corporation never gave a dollar to the campaign," he added.

Scott was then a glass manufacturer. Asked about any activity of the American Protective Tariff league in the campaign, he said the league had furnished some campaign material, but it had never been paid in cash for its work and had never contributed directly or indirectly to the campaign.

George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the national committee in 1908, is to testify Thursday. It is expected the books of the Republican committee for that campaign will be submitted to the committee this week.

mother regularly, as she was failing and to see that she did not lack medical attention.

The complaint goes on to say that the physician called at the Bledsoe home, but was denied admission to the house by his wife, who said she did not know where her mother-in-law was, and that she did not want the physician to call any more.

At that time Mrs. Bledsoe Jr. is alleged to have said to the physician: "Mr. Bledsoe does not know anything. He has no ability and cannot support his family. I support the family. I paid for this house. Mr. Bledsoe comes from a low stock. His mother is illiterate and his family never amounted to anything. I come from a high family."

In a letter addressed to a niece, Emily Standish, dated April, 1910, the wife is said to have written:

"Will that old woman never die? She has been a great burden to us."

THREATS ALLEGED.

Bledsoe says he had employed in his office in the Metropolitan Savings bank building in San Francisco a relative named Catherine Miller. Mrs. Bledsoe wrote from New York in 1910 to Catherine Miller as follows:

"You have broken my home. If you do not leave Mr. Bledsoe's office I will come to San Francisco, get a policeman and not let you out."

Bledsoe also swears that his wife told people that he was worthless and was guilty of misconduct with a servant of the house.

For six years past," declares the complaint, "every day that defendant was with plaintiff she said something grossly insulting and false to plaintiff and continually accused him of incompetency, lack of business ability and of being a spendthrift, of being a drunkard and spending his money on women."

Bledsoe says his wife's conduct worried him so that he became a nervous wreck and had to consult a physician and that he told plaintiff he feared he would go insane or die if the conduct was continued.

He neglected to visit her children on Christmas day, 1911, though they and the husband were in New York and the wife was "dramming" in Rochester. The wife explained that the round trip would cost $10.

Plaintiff asks that the community property on Grima street on which the wife has filed homestead be given over to himself and the children.

Henry R. Lester is attorney for Bledsoe.

LAW'S TRAP YAWNS WIDE FOR ROSENTHAL'S SLAYERS

GUILT TO FEEL STEEL TEETH TODAY

Admissions of Accused Prisoners Show Police Tracks of Hunted Men.

Becker to Be Denied Immunity if Called to Testify on Stand.

NEW YORK, July 22.—The Rosenthal case means its solution. That is the belief of Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty, who expects today to arrest two or three gunmen and gangsters who were hired to kill Herman Rosenthal before the gambler could disclose more secrets of the relations between the gamblers and police.

Sweated and galled, Jack Sullivan, a former newsboy, held as a material witness, and Sam Paul, the East Side gang leader, silently made statements early today, from which the police commissioner pieced together important and heretofore missing evidence. These two men, Sullivan and Paul, were taken into custody last night along with "Bridge" Webber, the gambler.

Detectives have learned enough of the case to admit that the gunmen were gathered together on Monday night and taken to Webber's poker rooms, where the final arrangements for the killing of Rosenthal were perfected. Webber denies all knowledge of the shooting.

Plans to kill Rosenthal were laid on the excursion trip of the Sam Paul Association. Rosenthal had been talking too much. Well known gunmen and black-jackers were all together and detectives now know that "Bald Jack" Rose and "Bridge" Webber were also on board the steamer.

It was the day that Rosenthal threatened to tell more about how the police grafted on gambling houses that the word was passed around that he must be made away with. Six men are now in custody in the Rosenthal case. One of them is held as a material witness and five others charged with being implicated in the crime. Commissioner Dougherty, however, says that not one of the men who killed the gambler, is under arrest.

BECKER MAY TESTIFY.

District Attorney Whitman returned to the city to take up with the grand jury an investigation of the Rosenthal case. Lieutenant Becker will be permitted to testify if he agrees to waive all immunity. The public prosecutor makes no effort to hide his belief that the shadow of Becker rests on the Rosenthal case and in consequence will not subpoena him.

Whitman takes the position that if Becker is as innocent as he says he is, he will seek to appear before the grand jury waiving immunity.

The grand jury will take up the charges that the police profited from gambling houses by permitting them to run without molestation. Waldo announced today that Lieutenant Becker, who has been in charge of the "strong arm squad," has been transferred to desk duty in the 65th police precinct.

In the first official move made by Waldo in connection with Lieutenant Becker since the killing of Rosenthal, the investigation into the murder of Herman Rosenthal has given New York a new account of the cleaning of crooks and gamblers as the city has not known for years. Insiders declare that for once the city is really closed tight, the new order of things extending even to the poker rooms with "club" charts, which have never been closed.

Louis Libby is still in jail. The number of the car that bore away the assassin had been noted. From this the owners of the car were traced and the assassin was found and arrested. Following an examination of the West Forty-seventh street station house, where Libby was confronted with witnesses of the shooting, Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty declared that Libby was being held on a charge of homicide. There was evidence to show, he added, that the prisoner was one of the four men who pumped lead into the defenseless gambler.

PICKED GUNMEN.

A picked band of gunmen was selected to shoot down Herman Rosenthal and he cheered the killing. It was said today by officials of the prosecutor's office. Investigation shows that there was not a slip in the plans.

William Shipiro, held in connection with the killing in a supplementary statement revealed how gangsters kept the street in front of the Hotel Metropole practically clear of taxicabs for thirty minutes before the murder. Apparently that "clear away" car might have a "clear get-away."

Shipiro said at least sixteen men must have known of the "clear get-away" off, as they were in front of the Metropole ready to block the way of the job or tried to block the getaway of the gunmen. The coroner's inquest will be held this afternoon.

ROSE SQUEALS?

There were reports that "Bald Jack" Rose "dug squealed" and that Commissioner Dougherty was in possession of all the names of the men who were in the "murder car." Dougherty has promised important arrests, but further than that will not discuss the case.

"Big Jack" Seale, gunman and gang leader, will surrender today, it was reported.

Because of the illness of Mrs. Rosenthal, widow of the gambler, District Attorney Whitman announced there would be no proceedings of the grand jury. The prosecutor wishes to call Mrs. Rosenthal as a witness.

The first wide search for the Rosenthal slayers is on. Some of the East Side "characters," whom the detectives are searching for are "Lefty" Leeds, a gunman, John Whitey, Harry Vailon, gambler; Sam Scheppe, a gangster and "tikey," another gangster.

PHONE TO WHITMAN.

It was learned today that Rosenthal had scarcely fallen to the sidewalk under a fusillade of bullets when someone telephoned District Attorney Whitman.

"You had better get down to the Metropole," said the voice, "a pistol will be found on Rosenthal's body."

The prosecutor hurried to the scene and satisfied himself that there was no weapon on the body. He then went to the police station and found out that no mention had been made of a weapon in the entry on the police blotter.

Later the story developed from several

COUNTY OFFICIALS SEEK FUNDS FOR COMING YEAR

First of Estimates Received at Today's Meeting of Supervisors

The first of the estimates by county officials of the money required to conduct their departments during the next fiscal year reached the Board of Supervisors this morning.

George W. Frick, county superintendent of schools, estimated that the sum of $15,440 would be required to operate his office. Of this amount $12,700 is for salaries and the balance for supplies. James B. Barber placed his estimate at $16,350, divided as follows: Salaries, $10,000; supplies, $14,500, and stationary and supplies, $1750.

The trustees of the Union high school at Centerville requested that the board raise the sum of $5000 for the maintenance of that school the coming year.

County Treasurer M. J. Kelly reported that he would need for his office $13,812, of which $12,100 was for salaries (statutory) and the balance for miscellaneous supplies.

WANT BALLOT BOXES.

City Clerk Frank R. Thompson applied to the supervisors for the use of the county ballot boxes in the recall election August 5. The request was granted.

BID ON BOILER.

T. B. Bouchard, in behalf of the Oakland Boiler Works, offered to supply and install an eight-horse power tubular boiler at the county infirmary for $2500.

CHANGE NAME OF STREET.

The trustees of Albany asked the board to take official cognizance of the fact that the street known as Solano avenue, in the town of Albany, had been changed to Main street.

NILES BRIDGE BIDS.

The Niles bridge was the magnet for strenuous competition amongst contractors to hold the contract for the rebuilding of that bridge. The bid was raised by one firm.

MEET AS EQUALIZERS.

At the conclusion of their meeting the supervisors this morning immediately adjourned to a board of equalization and faced another long list of petitions for the readjustment of assessments.

Sansbury's petition for a reduction on property of the Bruggers estate was reduced from $1100 to $800 on the showing that the property was an old barn.

The Delger property, Telegraph avenue and Williams street, which has been cleared of buildings was reduced $6000 on the assessment of improvements.

C. D. Mohr, who failed to make application for a reduction, was permitted to file his affidavit now, reducing his taxes $1000.

A. E. H. Kramer in behalf of Rachel Hays, petitioned for a reduction of assessment on personal property from $1300 to $200 on the showing that an automobile had been erroneously credited to Mrs. Hays.

M. A. Rowe's assessment on his house was reduced from $1500 to $1400.

A county assessor was granted a reduction from $500 to $400 on improvements.

A. F. Deller's petition for cancellation of $200 personal property was allowed.

DOUBLE ASSESSMENT.

Sarah W. Horton's assessment of $1500 on school furniture was cancelled on the showing that it was a double assessment.

The Delger property, Telegraph avenue and Williams street, which has been cleared of buildings was reduced $6000 on the assessment of improvements.

C. D. Mohr, who failed to make application for a reduction, was permitted to file his affidavit now, reducing his taxes $1000.

A. E. H. Kramer in behalf of Rachel Hays, petitioned for a reduction of assessment on personal property from $1300 to $200 on the showing that an automobile had been erroneously credited to Mrs. Hays.

M. A. Rowe's assessment on his house was reduced from $1500 to $1400.

A county assessor was granted a reduction from $500 to $400 on improvements.

A. F. Deller's petition for cancellation of $200 personal property was allowed.

DOUBLE ASSESSMENT.

Sarah W. Horton's assessment of $1500 on school furniture was cancelled on the showing that it was a double assessment.

'TICK-TICK' UNCOVERS PLOT

Internal Machine Found Concealed in Hay in Oaklander's Barn

Bold Attempt Made to Burn Structure Owned by August Joaquin

Internal Machine Found Concealed in Hay in Oaklander's Barn

An internal machine, carefully prepared with clock, batteries, magneto sparking machine and gasoline-saturated lint, was discovered shortly after 9 o'clock last night by August Joaquin concealed in the hay in his barn at 211 Second street. The clock was set for 2:30 o'clock this morning and was placed with the intent to set fire to the barn and destroy it and its contents, comprising eighteen heads of horses, wagons, hay and other belongings. The fire would have been kindled if it was not for Joaquin and his family, who slept in an adjoining building.

The ticking of the clock used in the internal machine resulted in the discovery of the "plot" by Joaquin. The teamster had gone into his barn to give hay to some of the animals, and his attention was attracted by the strange ticking sound. At first he was unable to trace the sound to its source, but upon burrowing into a pile of hay at one end of the barn he found the clock attached by electric wiring to a can of gasoline and an electric sparking machine provided with a $35 magneto and four dry batteries.

STRICKEN WITH FEAR.

Joaquin was stricken with fear at the find and hastily notified the police. Inspectors Thomas Wood and William Quigley rushed to the place, and Wood disconnected the wires and so prevented the machine carrying out the design of its maker.

Acting Chief Walter J. Petersen has detailed several of his men on the case, and an exhaustive investigation is being conducted. Although there are few clues upon which to work, the police hope to make arrests today.

The internal machine was planned as an incendiary device, no dynamite or other explosive being used. It is one of the cleverest and most carefully planned contrivances which has ever been examined by the local authorities. The device consists of three parts. These are the clock, the batteries and the magneto, and the can of gasoline.

The clock, a cheap alarm clock, was strapped on top of the batteries and magneto. The bell has been removed, and one wire connecting with the magneto attached to the small metal post holding the bell. The clock was carefully insulated by using electrical tape to the key used in winding the alarm was soldered a long copper arm, and when this turned with the unwinding of the spring when the alarm goes off the copper arm moves round and touches the other electric pole of the magneto, thus completing the circuit.

WOULD FIRE HAY.

Wires extended from the sparking device of the magneto to a small can of gasoline fitted with a lint wick. The wick extended up through the wick, and are planned to part just over the gasoline-saturated lint, so that the connection is perfected by the alarm key-hand turning the copper arm. The magneto with the batteries continues to spark for some time, and the fumes from the gasoline could not be ignited, and therefore set fire to the hay.

The machine was made by an electrical expert," declared Chief Petersen this morning. "There is no doubt of that. It is a device which would have done its work without fail. It was a dastardly attempt, and the man who planned it should not go unpunished."

Joaquin is an independent teamster and has been doing work for the Sunset Land and Cattle Company. He has had trouble with the local Teamsters' Union. He told the police last week that he feared trouble with some of the men and stated that he had been threatened by a man with a revolver.

The police are investigating this phase of the matter, but so far have been unable to find definite clues. A rigid investigation will be made before the case is dropped.

RUSSELL CITY ASSESSMENT.

Nellie M. Russell, owner of "Russell City" applying for sweeping reductions and corrections involving $75,000 in assessments. She asked reductions of approximately 40 per cent.

P. J. Russell appeared before the board and claimed that while the lots in one tract in the "city" had been assessed at $50 a piece the tract had been sold recently at $20.

Russell claimed also that there were several double assessments and that the assessors of the company had made a statement to the assessor in March of changes in title to some of the lots, and that the assessor had ignored the statement. She claimed that this year's statement was practically a copy of last year's.

Deputy Assessor Hedmark asked if it was not true that some of the lots in Russell City had sold at $300 and even $500.

"Well, that's true," said Russell, "but it's not all true that was bought and not sold."

The case was referred back to the county assessor.

ASSESSMENT CANCELLED.

J. E. DeMont objected to being assessed $500 for "improvements" on bare property. The cancellation was made.

J. H. Mac Lafferty testified that the value of the property of Mary F. Benton had been over assessed $2500. The case was continued until Wednesday morning.

OAKLANDER MAKES NEW DISCOVERY

After Two Years' Experimenting He Gives the World a Wonderful Throat Remedy.

Mr. T. H. Drake, a well-known young business man of Oakland and San Francisco, has discovered what is proving to be a wonderful remedy for the treatment of chronic and bronchial affections and throat trouble in all its varied forms caused by affected mucous membranes in the throat and stomach.

Mr. Drake's preparation is different from anything placed on the market heretofore. The method of use provides an entirely new way of administering a medicinal preparation. In an interview today he said:

"Two years ago last winter I was afflicted with asthma. After smoking at the evening I would cough and wheeze frightfully, so I went to a well-known throat specialist for treatment.

"At the same time I began using a preparation recommended by a friend in San Francisco who is a pharmacist of many years' experience. Between the two treatments I was soon cured.

"I asked the doctor why he did not advertise his preparation, and he told me that if he did he would be attacked by the doctor's societies as it was against the ethics of the profession.

"Not being able to get him to put the medicine on the market, I finally obtained his prescription and combined it with the one my pharmacist friend had prepared for me. Then I began experimenting on how to put it up for general use. I wanted a preparation that one could carry around in his pocket if necessary. Giving up the liquid idea on account of the bottle I began experimenting on lozenges, drops and troches, but all I could get was a flavored candy because when I had the prescription cooked into the sugar the medicinal value of the preparation would go up in the fumes.

"This experimenting went on at considerable expense for nearly a year and a half, until by accident I discovered a way of keeping the medicine in a liquid form and crystallizing the outside.

"After solving this problem, I called them 'Throettes' and gave samples to my friends and acquaintances and anyone I happened to learn had throat trouble. As a result, they came to me for more, saying that I had given them relief and actually cured them of their throat affections.

"I have prevented my little daughter from having croup two different times by giving her a 'Throette' when she first began to cough. Several people who had to give up cigars on account of their throat are again smoking. A woman to whom I gave samples about six weeks ago claims I have broken up a chronic bronchial cough which she had for nearly two years and several people are finding relief from asthmatic affections by using my 'Throettes' whenever they feel a 'choke' coming on.

Street car men, base ball players, actors and singers are also using them with good effect. Several cigar stores in San Francisco are selling a great many of them to their patrons who are troubled with 'smoker's throat.' In Oakland, I have had them on sale at Collins Bros' Drug Store and at Berovich's Cigar Store, under the Central Bank. I hope soon to have them in all the drug stores and cigar stores, because they are really a wonderful remedy for throat trouble. When asked what they sold for he said: 'I have put up boxes containing thirty, which I sell for ten cents. Doctors have told me that I could get twenty-five cents, but I would rather sell a large quantity at ten cents and have everybody try them than charge twenty-five cents and have but a few know their value. Everyone who has once used them says I have discovered a valuable remedy for the mucous membranes of the stomach, as well as the throat.'

ARBITRATION BOARD RESUMES SESSIONS

NEW YORK, July 22.—The arbitration commission created to settle the controversy over wages between the fifty-two railroads east of Chicago and their locomotive engineers resumed its sessions at Manhattan Beach today.

With the engineers' side of the case completed, the railroads began the production of evidence in support of their claims that the wages and working conditions of the engineers are all that the present business of the railroads will warrant.

FERRIS HARTMAN REVIVES 'THE MIKADO' AT IDORA

MISS DIXIE BLAIR, WHO SINGS KATISHA IN 'THE MIKADO' AT IDORA PARK TONIGHT.

Oakland was left off the map, theatrically speaking, when the New York managers booked the tour of the Gilbert and Sullivan Opera Company. Theater-goers who at first thought they had been slighted and would not have a chance to hear "The Mikado," "Pinafore" and the other great comic operas that will live forever, rejoiced when they learned that Ferris Hartman and the Idora Opera Company would give a season of revivals at the outdoor theater at Idora Park.

Beginning tonight, when that famous comic opera classic, "The Mikado," is sung for the first time in five years by Ferris Hartman, a season of Gilbert and Sullivan revivals will be inaugurated that promises to be the most popular presentation ever made at Idora Park. Despite the fact that the Idora management has been put to much additional expense in presenting "The Mikado" in a way worthy of that famous old opera, the amphitheatre seats will be sold at the same ridiculously low figure.

During the first week the large outdoor theater will be decked with thousands of var-colored Japanese lanterns, making a harmonious background for the beautiful scenes of old Nippon upon the stage. "The Mikado" calls for an elaborate scenic and costume investiture. Hartman and the Park management have aimed to make this production as near ideal as possible.

Just how many times "Teddy" Hartman has appeared as Ko-Ko in "The Mikado" nobody knows not even himself. This, one of his favorite roles, has never been in better hands. He is regarded as an authority on the Gilbert and Sullivan works. It was in "The Mikado" that Hartman opened his wonderfully successful engagement at Idora just after the big fire. He again used the beautiful opera of Japan to close his season, two years later.

In the cast this week will be, besides Hartman, Dixie Blair, Milla Durfee, "Muggins" Davies, Mercedes Temple, Roscoe Arbuckle, Walter De Leon, Lawrence Bowesa and Harry Pollard.

NEVADA'S PROGRESSIVES FIGHTING THEMSELVES

RENO, Nev., July 22.—Thursday the Bull Moose convention will be held in this city, when the faction led by Colonel C. R. Reeves, who is the accredited manager for the Roosevelt forces, will attempt to hold control of the progressive forces in the face of violent opposition on the part of a faction led by Sardis Summerfield and George Springer. These two have circulated petitions throughout the state calling upon delegates to name delegates to the progressive convention in Chicago August 5.

Former Supreme Justice W. A. Massey, who was appointed United States senator to succeed the late Senator John A. Nixon, after George Wingfield had refused the honor, will have an opponent in his own party in the person of Colonel Sardis Summerfield, an old-time Republican, who is actively engaged in attempting to wrest the progressive power from Roosevelt's manager. The Nevada progressives are hopelessly split and both factions are doing their utmost to gain control of the convention.

WATCHMAN IS JAILED BY BUSY 'SHERLOCK'

HILLSBORO, July 22.—Deputy Marshal C. M. Hirshey captured what afterwards proved to be very much of a "tartar" Saturday night, when he placed a man whom he found prowling about the grounds surrounding the country home of Norris K. Davis, chairman and trustee of the town of Hillsboro, under arrest and lodged him in the San Mateo city lock-up.

Hirshey was so elated on making the capture of what he thought was a daring midnight marauder that in the excitement he forgot to question his captive until several hours after the supposed burglar had been placed securely in a cell. When he did question him the dreams of promotion were rudely shattered.

"Sure, I was prowling around the grounds," volunteered the jailed one, between more eloquent than elegant expressions of his opinion of the Hillsboro deputy marshal. "I draw pay for prowling around them grounds, you boob, I'm the night watchman."

NATIVE SONS PLAN ORPHEUM THEATER PARTY

Athens parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West, will give a benefit theater party at the Orpheum on the evening of August 12. From present indications the attendance from the ranks of various local parlor societies besides those from Alameda and Berkeley, will be large.

In addition to the regular Orpheum program amateur actors from Athens parlor will present "stunts" for the amusement of the audience. E. P. Garrison, J. J. English, C. W. Fairchild, B. T. Given, A. W. Simkins, E. S. Babus, J. H. Skaggs, J. S. Livan, Leon Rewig, compose the arrangements committee.

SHORTAGE DISCOVERED; WOMAN KILLS HERSELF

CHICAGO, July 22.—After an auditing committee had gone over the books of Mrs. Myrtle Leslarin, treasurer of the Mystic Workers of the World, and found a shortage of $200, the woman killed herself by swallowing a quantity of rat poison.

"The money was stolen out of the house," was the dying statement she made. The auditing of her books had been done secretly, and when her husband heard the lodge gossip and rushed home to tell her of it.

Friends believe that she told the truth when she said the money had been stolen. Her father, who is wealthy, returned it to the lodge.

BRIDES-TO-BE ON LINER NUMBER 38

NEW YORK, July 22.—All maritime records for bride ships were broken with the arrival yesterday of the Caledonia from Glasgow with 38 bonnie ladies aboard, all standing at the rail waiting to be married. Most of the brides are destined for the west, where their Scotch husbands have taken up land and are prospering. With the exception of two, all the intending bridegrooms were strangers to each other, and as each waved to his fiancée he eyed his neighbor with true Caledonian reserve.

Is Your Home Ready For the Big Day?

Eilers Music House Will Now Furnish You the Piano or Player-Piano and Give You Thirty Months in Which to Pay for It. A Remarkable Offer. Read It Carefully.

In thirty months San Francisco will have opened the gates of her wonderful Exposition. We will be the hosts of the entire world. The time from now until January 1, 1915, will be a busy period, carrying much responsibility. The responsibility does not rest alone on the Fair Management, the City or the State. It rests also on every resident of San Francisco—Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda. Not only must the Fair be the greatest in history but the city and particularly the homes, must also be attractive, if we would make the right impression.

Every Home Should Have Music

There is no home so humble that will not have to share in the duty of entertaining some of our city's guests. No day, no hour, is a home that is not provided with good music. Don't put off the purchase of your piano or Player-piano too long.

We will install your own selection of an instrument and you can have the full thirty months from now until the opening of the Exposition to complete the payments.

Investigate Our Cooperative Plan

No piano buyer in California can afford not to investigate our new Co-operative Piano Buying Plan. Even of the largest Eastern manufacturers are jointly interested with us in a proposition to piano buyers—so advantageous so fair, that it appeals to all.

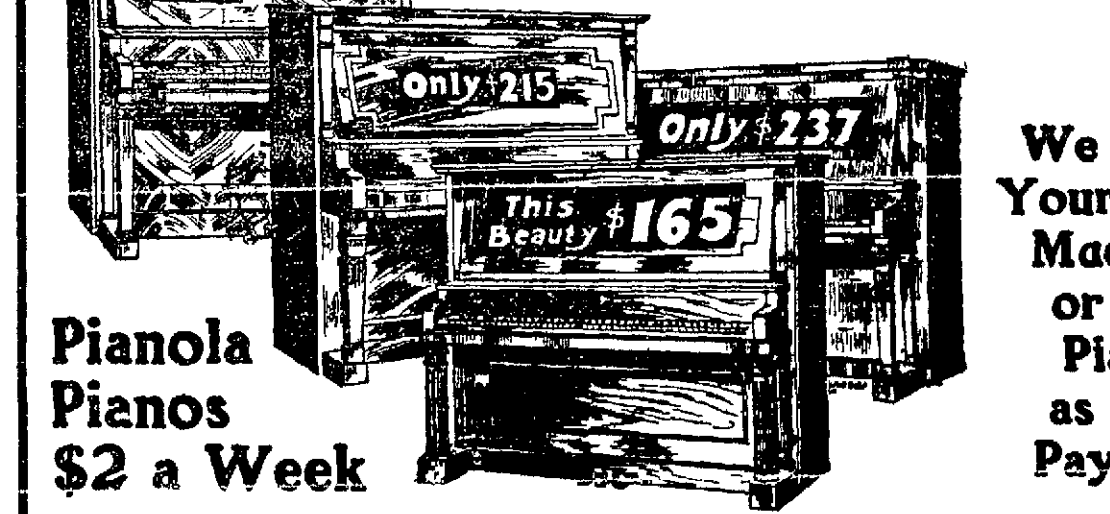

By means of the Co-operative Plan we are now selling the last shipments of $74 pianos on payments of $1.00 a week. Just imagine! We ask you to pay less than rent for a piano which in a short time will make it your own property. At the same time you are permitted to share in the Co-operative Buying Plan, which refunds to you in cash a very considerable part of the money you pay for your piano. You ought in justice to yourself, come to see us to investigate this wonderful plan, but if you can't write to us or telephone us and we will be glad to give you full information. Of this though, you may be certain it is the most economical, the most advantageous offer ever made to piano purchasers of California. Their appreciation of it is shown in the remarkable number of sales of pianos—now almost 500—already effected through this plan.

There is not one piano or player-piano in the entire State that are now being sold that was ever obtainable at the prices that now prevail, and because these prices must ultimately be restored to a fair profit-yielding basis, we do not mention the names and styles in this advertisement.

Player-Pianos Reduced, Too

If it is a player-piano you want, the regular $600 and $800 styles are now being sold at $485, payments $2.00 a week; $500 and $575 styles at $395; $600 players at $485, and the best player of all—in many respects the superior of instruments bringing $1,250—we are now selling at $775. In upright pianos, $287 will now buy the $400 styles, while pianos hitherto sold at $400 and $500 are selling as low as $315. The high-grade $550 styles are now $335, and you pay for them at $1.00 down and $1.00 a week.

Altogether, it is the most remarkable proposition ever submitted to piano buyers in California or any other State.

HUNDREDS ATTEND VETERANS' OUTING

Spanish War Soldiers, Their Wives and Families Make Merry.

Fifteen hundred persons passed through the gates at Schutzen park when the Spanish War Veterans' camp from San Francisco and the bay counties gave a joint picnic, yesterday. The number present represented principally the wives and families of the veterans.

One of the leading events of the day was the tug-of-war between two ten men teams representing the army and navy and was won by navy team. The program included a list of games for which first and second prizes were awarded. Members of the Women's Auxiliary competed in the contests.

SEERESS SUSPECTED OF WHOLESALE POISONING

CHICAGO, July 22.—Poison has been found in the bodies of two more of the "seeresses" under indictment on the charge of having killed her second husband for his life insurance.

Coroner H. L. Nathan of Milwaukee has notified the local authorities that he has had the bodies of Julius Granke, Otto Lindorf exhumed, and that his chemists have discovered poison in both. In the body of Granke the chemists found seven and a half grains of arsenic, while the body of Lindorf yielded two and a fourth grains.

An inquest will be ordered, and in the event of Mrs. Lindorf being freed of the charges against her in Chicago she will be re-arrested and taken to Milwaukee.

WYLLIE WOULD STAY IN STATE LEGISLATURE

FRESNO, July 22.—G. W. Wyllie of Dinuba, assemblyman from Tulare county and noted as the author of the Wyllie local option bill, has announced that he would not run for Congress but would seek re-election to the lower house of the legislature, where he has already spent two terms. His withdrawal leaves C. J. Fox of Bakersfield and H. W. Hargrave of Madera to oppose Congressman J. C. Needham at the Republican primaries.

RAISE FUNDS FOR CHINESE REPUBLIC

Countrymen in Los Angeles Hold Mass Meeting; Contribute $35,000.

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—Thirty-five thousand dollars was raised at a mass meeting of Los Angeles Chinese last night, and many thousands pledged, in order to keep the new Chinese Republic from falling into the clutches of the "money-mad foreign powers," as one of the speakers expressed it.

The purpose of the meeting, said to be the first of its kind held in this country, was to start a fund for the raising of $200,000,000, which it was the intention of the leaders of the new Republic to send to China to keep the wheels of the new machinery going until the government affairs were placed on a firm basis, and prevent the necessity of China borrowing money and pledging all of her revenue for security.

CHICAGO ATTORNEY IS ACCUSED BUNCO MAN

CHICAGO, July 22.—Joseph Epstein, an attorney, and uncle of the lawyer who conducted the winning fight for the freedom of Mrs. Pete Morrow, is made the defendant in charges before the Chicago Bar Association, implicating him in a confidence game.

Epstein is 60 years of age and one of the best known attorneys in the city. A few days ago Frank Swickel was arrested and locked up on his wife's complaint that he had beaten her. Friday Epstein appeared before Judge Walker, asking the judge to use his efforts to obtain her freedom.

He was destitute and needed support. Judge Walker sent a bailiff to investigate. Mrs. Swickel told the bailiff that Epstein had agreed to gain her husband's freedom for a fee of $7, saying that he had influence with Judge Walker.

BACHELOR CLUB'S FOUNDER DESERTS

Joseph Call Leads Miss Dorothy Chalmers to the Altar.

SAN MATEO, July 22.—The first break in the ranks of the Peninsula Club, a bachelor organization of San Mateo, has been made by one of its founders and leaders, Joseph Call, who was married quietly to Miss Dorothy Chalmers on Saturday evening in St. Matthew's church, San Mateo.

Call is a young business man of San Francisco, living in San Mateo, and in November, 1911, he, with others, formed the Peninsula Club. Its membership, limited to thirty, filled up almost immediately. Its membership remained intact until Saturday. A provision in its charter which declares that marriage entails automatic expulsion was written by Call. Now the clubmen are wondering if Call will present an amendment.

MADE VICTIM IN HURRY.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—William A. Greenleaf, a resident of Grace Valley, came to the city yesterday afternoon and within a short space of time had been robbed of his gold watch. He believes the timepiece was picked from his pocket on the waterfront.

Two men, whom Lugan performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Call have gone to Lake Tahoe for a honeymoon of a few weeks. On their return they will live in San Mateo Park where a pretty bungalow has been built for them.

PRECIOUS METALS IN SMELTER DUMP

$62,000 Worth of Gold and Silver Found in Refuse Pile in Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 22.—Gold, silver and other valuable metals from an old smelter dump at Argentine, Kan., a suburb of Kansas City, have yielded $62,000 in the last thirteen months. The site is not occupied by a structural steel company. Officers of the steel company today said they believed $25,000 more in metal is in the dump. It is said the company paid $45,000 for the property.

In the years the old Argentine smelter operated the metal splashed from the ladles and escaped through crevices in the floors of the building. The smelter suspended operations fifteen years ago.

COULDN'T PAY FOR JOY RIDE; GOES TO JAIL

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Dr. Charles Griffith, a dentist who lives in the Mission, was taken to the Central Station in an automobile by A. J. Woodward, a chauffeur, at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

Woodward was detaining a taxicab driver who was lodged against him. The bill amounted to $13 or thereabouts and the dentist had not the wherewithal to pay. "I went out with a party of ladies and gentlemen," said Dr. Griffith afterwards, "and we stopped at several places in the course of our ride. I spent my money and when the time came to pay I simply didn't have any of it left. I had to go right home and get it now, but of course the driver wouldn't understand that and had me arrested. I think the amount due is $13, a paltry sum for which to force a man to stay even a few hours in prison."

Shall Oakland Abandon the Development Policy?

OCCASIONALLY one hears of a citizen who says he is going to vote for the recall because something has been done that displeases him or something has not been done that he wanted done and he proposes to show his resentment by injuring himself and the entire city.

Such a spirit is human, but it is illogical and utterly without wisdom. It is the spirit that prompts one to cut his nose off to spite his face. It inspires such foolish impulses as prompted the farmer to fire his barn and hang himself in the woodshed because his wife insisted on poking the fire in what was to his mind the wrong way.

Frank K. Mott has now been Mayor of Oakland for eight years. During that time a greater civic development has taken place than took place in all the years previous. Mott has done more things and bigger things than all his predecessors combined. It is impossible that he could have done things in the way everybody wanted them done or all the things people wanted done. He has not always been able to please himself and has been compelled to leave undone—for the time being—things that he wished to do.

He has had to bow to the imperious logic of condition, and been compelled to modify his plans in some particulars to carry them through in other particulars. In short, he has been governed by the law of circumstance and expedience.

But he has nevertheless never halted in his efforts to improve the city, to beautify it, and build it up and enlarge its facilities for commerce.

During the whole period he has been at the head of the municipal government Oakland has forged ahead, and Mott has all the time been working to push the city along. His mistakes—if he has made any—were made in his efforts to make Oakland more prosperous and more beautiful.

He has been pushing and pulling the city ahead, begging, arguing and reasoning with his fellow citizens to stand together and work together in behalf of civic betterment. He has been the inspiration and mainspring of progress and municipal adornment. He has done things, and in doing things has necessarily given offense to some who seeing only one side of the case and nothing of the difficulties to be surmounted, thought this or that could have been done in a better way.

But progress necessarily produces friction and changes inevitably cause some disturbance. Mott's scheme of development has produced less friction than was to have been reasonably expected and has caused the minimum of disturbance. If he has not done the best he could he has done what seemed to his judgment the best thing to do in the circumstances. And he has done well. He has lifted this city to an eminence that nobody dreamed it would occupy in a generation when he became Mayor.

Mott has made our dreams come true. He has not made everybody see his visions as he saw them, but he has made enough people see them to insure success in the great municipal enterprises he has undertaken.

When he took the Mayor's office eight years ago, Oakland was an unkempt, unpaved town lacking in municipal equipment of every sort; there was no organized public spirit among our citizens and no definite plans for civic betterment; our civic energies were wasted in the petty strife of parochial politics in which small ideas and small men predominated; the waterfront was in the hands of private parties who claimed to own it, and the city was destitute of parks and playgrounds.

Mott organized public spirit and projected an imposing plan of civic betterment, and the impulse of the movement he inaugurated and led has caused a wondrous change in Oakland. It induced the expenditure of millions in new buildings and in improvements of all kinds. The waterfront has been rescued from private hands and is being developed to accommodate deep-sea shipping; nearly forty miles of modern street paving has been laid, and nearly one hundred miles of streets dressed with oil macadam. The city has been sewerred and concrete conduits constructed to carry the sewage far out into the bay. A system of parks and playgrounds has been provided and the city amply equipped to extinguish fires, with the result that property has been made safer and insurance rates reduced. A splendid city hall is being erected and work is shortly to be begun on a great auditorium located on ground reclaimed by the Mott administration.

When we compare what Mott has done with what he has not done, the marvel is that he should have been able to accomplish so much, not that he did not do more. Fault with the way he has done things gives way to surprise that he found a way at all.

To recall Mott and his colleagues at this juncture would be an act of supreme folly. It would be like mending a watch that does not always run true by pulling out the mainspring and stopping it altogether. It would depress business and property values, discourage building and throw the whole scheme of municipal development into confusion. This at a time when Oakland should be putting her best foot forward for the Panama-Pacific Exposition. It is like halting the march of a victorious army to squabble over trifles and vent small personal grievances.

A Turkish Coffee-House Romance.

There is an element of farce in the report sent out from Constantinople that a flotilla of eight Italian torpedo boats had attacked the forts and land batteries at the entrance of the Dardanelles, and had been driven to flight, two of the torpedo boats being sunk. Only a Turk could imagine anybody being crazy enough to attack land fortifications armed with heavy guns with torpedo boats. The story which appears to have given so much alarm at the Sublime Porte is ridiculous—too ridiculous for serious consideration. Torpedo boats carry no guns of large calibre. They are not built for fighting but for running. They are small, unarmored, and lightly armed with small guns. They are mere eggshells, in fact, and only a madman would have attempted to force the Dardanelles, a narrow passage guarded with strong forts and protected by mines and torpedoes, with a mosquito fleet having no power to inflict damage or offer defense.

The report says the engagement lasted forty-five minutes, and that in consequence the Turkish government had given notice that the Dardanelles strait was to be closed to navigation. It looks as if the story of the alleged bombardment was a clumsy fake designed to give the Turkish government a pretext for taking a step that will greatly embarrass England, which must have bread, and Russia, which has an enormous amount of wheat to ship out from the Black Sea ports. This wheat must pass through the Dardanelles.

Turkey has been making babyish appeals to the powers ever since the war with Italy began. She was impotent to prevent the seizure of Tripoli, and is in distress because the Italians have carried the war into the islands of the Mediterranean and Adriatic belonging to Turkey, and which Turkey is incapable of defending.

When Italy invaded Tripoli, Turkey tried to get the powers to interfere by hiring some British correspondents to send out blood-curdling and horrifying stories of ruthless butcheries and heinous barbarities committed by the Italians. But the scheme didn't work, neither did the circular note sent around by the Porte accusing the Italians of wantonly slaughtering women and children and old men in their fiendish lust for blood.

Then from the coffee houses of Constantinople began to come accounts of terrible defeats and dreadful disasters suffered by the Italians. But nobody outside of Constantinople knew anything about the battles on sea and land in which the Italians were slaughtered by thousands. Even the Italians were ignorant of what was being done to them and were apparently not a penny the worse for being killed and whipped off the face of the earth by the coffee-house romancers at Stamboul.

The last Turkish yarn concocted in that quarter is merely a little more foolish than its predecessors.

A perpetual candidate for Mayor promises to keep taxes down. He would keep everything else down—business, building, credit and the reputation of the city.

A Modern Instance.

The hollow and treacherous character of international friendship is illustrated by the prosecution of a signal man and a soldier in Germany for selling a signed book and military secrets to agents of the British government.

England professes to cherish only feelings of friendship and amity for Germany, but agents of the British government bribe German officers and citizens to betray the military secrets of their country. But Germany does the same thing with England and France, and so does every other nation, the United States included. All the great nations are spying upon each other, and resorting to all sorts of corrupt and dishonorable expedients to pry into the affairs of their neighbors. When their agents are caught they disavow them, and deny that they engaged them. The whole business is discreditable in the highest degree.

A touch of mordant humor is given to the latest case by the readiness of England to surrender the German soldier who had been bribed to betray his country to British agents. He had fled to England after receiving the price of his treachery, and Germany extradited him on a charge of stealing the documents he sold to the British government. He was given up without question.

Thus England kept the stolen goods, but gave up to punishment the thief. She saved her face and Germany accomplished her object without bringing into the arena of public debate the infamous system of bribery and treachery that all the nations are parties to.

Congressman Kent is reported to be at outs with the Governor. It is Kent's habit to fall out with everybody who does not agree with all his idiosyncrasies. He is now in a party by himself—a Kent party exclusively. Elected as a Republican, he uniformly voted in Congress with the Democrats and is now running for Congress in the First District as an independent progressive against a progressive Republican who is acceptable to both factions of the party. He has no chance of being elected, and the only effect his candidacy can have will be to injure the prospects of Judge McCormick and help Raker, his Democratic opponent. It is impossible for Kent to agree with anybody very long—he is not even consistent with himself. His opinions are merely a lot of loose and inconsistent impressions, changeable as the wind, and dictated mainly by vanity and egotism.

SLOW TO LEARN

Cornell University has again swept the river at Poughkeepsie and lengthened its roll of aquatic honors. Year after year the coaches of other colleges make a try for the premiership and almost inevitably lose. Such coaches interested in a college seem to believe that he has the best system of rowing that can be devised. Courtney of Cornell continues with the same old stroke that has been used for centuries and which no one else does not seek, apparently, to imitate even the best features of it.

It does not seem credible that Cornell has had the best, champion of native endurance all these years. Nobody thinks that. Nobody believes it. It can hardly be true. Yet the Cornell system produces the best results on the average, and why other men do not work toward that, if not absolutely adopt it openly and above board, is a mystery.

LIFESAVING TELEGRAPHY

The International Radio-Telegraphic Conference has not wasted time nor mis-conceived the purport of its meeting in giving first place in its deliberations and findings to the saving of human life. It could scarcely have done otherwise, seeing that it met under the very shadow of an untimely tragedy in which the use, the misuse and the neglect of radio-telegraphy were all impressively displayed. It was well to crystallize the lessons of the Titanic while they were still fresh in mind, and if the conference had done nothing more than that it would have been abundantly worth while.

There are other uses to which the system can be put besides life-saving, and we may hope that it will serve them much more frequently than the latter. But for life-saving, both in giving warnings of dangerous conditions in advance and in calling for help when a vessel has actually fallen into distress, its value is unique. Nothing else can do its work. Radio-telegraphy being the only known method of conveying messages to and from ships in midsea, that phase of its utility commands more interest than any other service of the new system of communication.

It is an interesting, and doubtless will prove a helpful, provision that for the last ten minutes of each hour every station and every ship shall maintain silence, listening for calls for assistance. There is a strong appeal to the imagination in the picture of the air filled with flashing messages between ships and stations, crossing and recrossing like swallows in their flight, until fifty minutes after the hour is sounded, and then every apparatus hushed into silence while for ten minutes the world listens for some lone cry for help. The use of the system for reporting the character and tendencies of the weather at sea, which was one of the first things decided upon by the conference and which has already been discussed in these columns, seems certain to prove of much value, as the conference evidently believed, inas-much as it decided to give dispatches concerning the weather precedence over all others—excepting, we assume, calls for help.

The complaint has been made, with some showing of truth, that many of the most advanced inventions are applied immediately to the potential destruction of human life in war. It is gratifying to have one of the most striking of all recent inventions primarily applied to the protecting and the rescuing of human lives. —New York Tribune.

ANOTHER BOB INGERSOLL

CHICAGO, July 22.—"O, God, send us another Bob Ingersoll to arouse the people," was the plea made by Rev. Charles B. Mitchell, pastor of St. James Methodist Episcopal Church, at the Desplains camp meeting yesterday.

"They sit in the pews with dull, dead indifference that breaks our hearts. It would be better if they threw bricks at us, as they did at Wesley, but they don't even talk back. This is an age of doubt. We ministers need more than apostolic succession in this scoffing, indifferent and godless age. The pendulum, I believe, will soon begin to swing back again."

CLEVER COMEDIANS CAPTURE HONORS AT BELL THEATER

CLARK AND VERDI, STARS OF SPLENDID VAUDEVILLE BILL AT BELL THEATER THIS WEEK.

Clark and Verdi carried off the honors of the Bell theater's new bill, yesterday, when the audience demanded more and more and still more. The team is composed of Italian comedians who have the American idea of entertaining down to a fine point. They are careful not to caricature and thus are never offensive. From the moment they shuffle on the stage until they shuffle off, they have those "out front" with them, occasioning much joy and laughter that follows thereafter.

One as the laborer who has a working idea of the English, the other as a boss who has acquired the power of American money-getting, they fill their fifteen minutes or so to the limit. A song or two, a dance that is roughly funny and a running fire of conversation that has its comedy merits constitute one of the best acts on a good bill.

The "Pia" grand opera trio distribute good singing among the multitude. Selections from the works of the greatest are well-handled and the theater rings with melody that stirs the blood. In the midst of a cloudburst of ragtime that has overwhelmed the vaudeville stage it is a number like this that is appreciated.

Little Marguerite Bittner is the star that shines brightest in "The Waltz." As Tim, in a tabloid comedy carrying its own tears and laughter, the youngest does her share to keep those in front busy with their "kerchiefs." Pathos is the basis of "The Waltz" with Marguerite

Bittner, Ella Bittner and William W.

Bittner at the tear-jerk.

The story is that of an orphan who comes to the home of Neuben Meadow-brook. There he fills the void left by a daughter who had been disowned for shouldering the burdens of matrimony

when forbidden to do so by her father.

It ends as all good tabloid should, the little boy brought from the orphan asylum being the grandchild of Meadowbrook.

WORKS RAPIDLY.

Powell does quick work with colored chalk, producing caricatures in the space of time required to read this. More than that, he draws them inverted, adding the element of surprise to all that he does.

A lot of conversation that he carries on with you helps matters along and tops off an act that opens the bill with a zip.

Up-to-date American ballads and a smattering of ragtime are Bonnie Browning's offering, this week. If you like sentiment she has it in melody form; if you'd rather hear syncopation, that too, is on hand. And if you care for both of them and a little of each, Bonnie Browning will favor you.

Picture plays with plenty of comedy and a deal of thrill add a lot to this week's program. And that latter is good.

WOULD DIVORCE GEORGE COLLINS

Pretty Clarice McCurdy Will Bring Suit Against San Quentin Convict.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—The axiom of John Hoyle, warden of San Quentin, that three years is the limit of the constancy of a woman separated from her husband by prison bars has been proven again by headstrong Clarice McCurdy, who has arranged to bring divorce proceedings against George D. Collins, the bigamist-convict, serving a sentence of fourteen years for perjury.

Arduous as was the affection of Clarice McCurdy for the spectacular Collins when he began serving his sentence in July, 1909, it has apparently died of inattention.

Reposited, the "perjured burglar" of Collins and Seattle, who was sentenced for seven years for attempting to blackmail Rudolph Spreckels, are others at San Quentin whose heart affluents recently ended in the disillusionment of divorcing Collins.

Clarice McCurdy has gone about making her arrangements for divorce very quietly. She has always fought shy of the publicity attendant upon her relations with Collins.

It was his marriage with Clarice McCurdy that was the indirect cause of his imprisonment. Collins, who was known as one of the most adroit technicians among the members of the bar in California, met with defeat in having taken the trouble to secure a divorce from Charlotte Neumann, his wife.

It was afterward said that Collins, with his talent for evasion, had concocted a story that he was about to marry seven wives, in seven different states, and escape conviction in any of them.

He never put this plan to practical test, but the fact remains that he had two wives he escaped conviction of bigamy.

PERJURY IS CHARGED.

Perjury was the charge on which he was convicted and sentenced for fourteen years in San Quentin.

In 1905 he was arrested for bigamy, following his marriage to Clarice McCurdy. After the trial began in July of that year, he fled to Canada.

Arrested there, he was extradited and placed in prison to serve the charge being based on testimony he gave at the bigamy trial.

The trial on the perjury charge which began in November, 1905, was one of the lengthiest and most intricate in the history of the state.

Collins planned his defense in his cell in the county jail at Ingleside, where he was held prisoner for nearly three years. He exhausted every known resource of testimony in proving the case on appeal until the case finally went to the California Supreme Court. That tribunal upheld the judgment of the Superior Court and Collins began to serve his fourteen-year sentence in July, 1909.

That was three years ago, and Clarice McCurdy remained constant just long enough to fix the time limit set by Warden Hoyle.

There was talk of a pardon for Collins last April, friends of the convicted attorney placing the matter in the hands of Governor Johnson, who was one of the attorneys who prosecuted Collins.

Nothing resulted from the application for the pardon, and Collins has continued to serve as dispenser of prison clothes at San Quentin.

Abe Ruef, J. Dazell Brown, the McNamara brothers and several other prisoners of Oakland have been among the prisoners who received their striped suits from Collins.

Meantime Clarice McCurdy has gone about arranging for divorce in San Francisco.

STAGE BABY DIES

OF FEARFUL BURNS

Earline Kroll Succumbs After Two Days of Terrible Suffering.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—After every attempt had been made to save her life, little Earline Kroll, three and a half year old daughter of Edna Rosamond, a vaudeville singer, died yesterday from the effects of burns.

The baby's grandmother, Mrs. Perrier, is suffering from a severe burning of the hands, which she sustained in trying to save the child.

Baby Earline, who was the pet of local theatrical circles, secretly burned her own hands when Mrs. Rosamond took her on tour, was standing at the window of Mrs. Perrier's home in the Page apartments at Leavenworth and Turk streets on Saturday morning, waiting for her breakfast. Baby was gazing in her little lace-bedecked "nightie."

With baby inquisitiveness, Earline took up a box of matches from the window sill. Apparently, while playing with the half-open box, the baby struck a match and the whole box burst into flame. The breeze from the open window fanned the burning matches against the baby's nightgown, which was ablaze in an instant.

The first flame was in baby's unexcited cries, between which she said: "Mummy, summ'n's wrong 'th' match."

Mrs. Perrier smothered the flames with a pillow and in doing so severely burned her own hands. The baby's body was seared. Her face and pretty head of golden hair were untouched.

JOHN D. PENNIES CHIEFLY. TARRYTOWN, N. Y., July 22.—John D. Rockefeller has suspended John Riley, foreman of his Pocantico Hills estate, for being cruel to his family. Riley is not to be taken back by the all king until he proves he can be a model husband. Riley recently drove his wife and seven children under twelve years of age out of the house. They had to find shelter for the night elsewhere.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Mayor Gaynor has been invited to visit San Francisco next month as guest of the board of the committee which is making preparations for the Panama-Pacific Exposition in 1915. The Mayor has not yet made up his mind whether or no he can accept the invitation.

An article that has real merit in time becomes popular. That such the case with "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy" has been attested by many. Here is one of them. H. W. Hendon, Ohio Falls, Ind., writes: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best I have ever used and I am a regular user. For sale by Oakland Free Drug Co."

CHURCH MEN ARM FOR FIGHT ON PLEASURES

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—To place a ban on dancing and card playing, to more strictly taboo the pleasures of the flesh and to effectively discourage every form of Sabbath-breaking are the ends which will dominate the eighth annual camp meeting of the Southern California Methodist Conference, which opens tomorrow at Huntington Beach.

Evangelist John Brown will have general charge of the week's services and he sounded the note in the beginning with his personal views of cards and dancing.

"I am absolutely opposed to them," he told his audience. "Regardless of whether they may be made a practice by an individual, they cannot be indulged in without weakening the influence for good of that individual. I have never known a soul to be won by one who does these things."

'WON'T FOLLOW ROOSEVELT' WIRES SENATOR WORKS Californian Says He Will Not Vote for Taft Either; Scores New Party

WASHINGTON, July 22.—That he will not vote for Taft, and that circumstances will determine whether he will vote for Roosevelt or Wilson, or at all, is the declaration of Senator Works in a telegram sent yesterday, when the Senator was called upon by telegraph by Lieutenant Governor A. J. Wallace to inform the Progressive voters of California whether he intended to vote for Roosevelt, Taft or Wilson.

His message is as follows: "WASHINGTON, July 22.—Hon. A. J. Wallace, Los Angeles—Will not vote for Taft. Would have voted for, and aided in, election of Roosevelt if he had stood in his first place to nominate at Chicago and run as Republican. Will not follow him into new party. Follow new party should ground, as above, that would make his claim invulnerable. Do not believe in new party now or under existing circumstances. Believe it will result in complicated disunity to Progressive cause. Whether I will vote for Roosevelt depends on how he is nominated, and whether he runs as Republican or not. Have not determined whether will vote for Wilson or not, if I cannot conscientiously vote for Roosevelt. Feel I can, as Progressive Republican, vote for Wilson consistently if no Republican other than Taft is candidate. JOHN D. WORKS."

STICKS TO HIS RECORD.

Following his policy from the beginning of the controversy, Senator Works today refused to go outside his written record and comment on the situation.

"This is a political controversy, not a personal one," he said. "So far as I am concerned, the personal side of the matter will not be injected into the situation. I want to keep to the issue, as evidenced in my written statements. I feel that I am right and, whether others indulge in personalities or not, I intend to keep to the political issues involved."

Telegrams commanding Senator Works for his stand are still coming in daily. He received several yesterday. In addition, the first letters since the controversy arose reached him this morning, and it is expected that his mail will be heavily laden with comments on the California political whirlwind.

Senator Works steadfastly refused to give out the names of those who have gone to the expense of sending him telegraphic congratulations. Most of the messages are vigorous in their expressions of condemnation of the committee of forty which sent the demand for the Senator's resignation.

"The demand for your resignation is political piracy," one message read. "A man who signed himself as 'one of the most Progressive Republicans of California' sent in substance the following: 'Do not be intimidated by the demands of the party-breakers and the saboteurs. You are right and I admire your courage.'"

Another message said: "Pay no attention to the colossal impudence of the demand for your resignation by Meyer Lissner and others. I have talked to many of your friends in Los Angeles whose opinions you respect, and they all agree that you are right."

CONGRATULATED ON STAND.

Another close friend of the California Senator said: "Nothing, when you feel that you are right, you have the courage of your conscience. Congratulations on your stand."

"Stand fast against the political threat planned against the Republican party of California," wired another discomfited against the action of the committee of forty.

"The demand for your resignation is outrageous. It embodies the most remorseless attempt at breaking California politics has ever known. It was the substance of another telegram.

Among the four or five messages condemning Senator Works was one from a Rooseveltian at San Francisco, who denounced him as a political "Judas."

Interest in the controversy is growing in Washington, particularly on the Democratic side of the Senate. Senator Tillman, the fiery old South Carolinian, said: "I'll be damned if that man Works isn't all right."

DEMOCRATS ARE INTERESTED.

The interest of the Democrats lies in the probable effect on the controversy on the political fortunes of Wilson in California. It is thought here that the statements of Senator Works, and particularly those embodied in his letter in reply to the resignation demand, will help to lead many California Republicans to the Wilson camp.

Senator Perkins looks on the controversy with grim amusement. "They don't need to ask me where I stand," he said. "They know I'm for Taft."

On the House side, where the racket has aroused the keen interest of the California members, nothing will be said for publication. Stephens deprecates the fact that the conflict has arisen, but will make no comment.

Representative Kent disagrees with Senator Works on the third party plan, holding that the Republicans in California are under no obligation of loyalty to the national convention, because the laws of the State were ignored.

On the other hand, he does not sanction the demand for the Senator's resignation, holding that this request is unwarranted, under the circumstances.

Representative Baker, the lone California Democrat, and chosen as a progressive, looks on the controversy with complacency, as being gist for the Democratic mill.

The Republican members who served in Congress before the present regime went into power are quietly holding aloof from the conflict.

HAMMOND LAWN PARTY TO AID TITANIC FUND

BOSTON, July 22.—Announcement has been made of a monster lawn party to be held August 23 on the estate of John Hays Hammond at Gloucester, the host of the Titanic memorial arch, which a committee of women erected in Washington to commemorate the bravery of the men who perished when the monster ship went down.

In the beautiful natural gully an open-air theater will be pitched, and here various acts will be staged. President Taft is going to open the event and will address the gathering. Mrs. Taft will be one of the matrons and will assist the committee of ladies who have charge of the event.

Mrs. James Hay is president of the committee having charge of the collection and Mrs. Hammond is secretary. In addition to these women, Mr. Sherman, wife of the Vice-president, who is also of the committee, will attend.

ST. LOUIS, July 22.—While passing Vandalla slough, in East St. Louis, yesterday, Lee Deatherage, an engineer on the Vandalla line, witnessed from his cab window the drowning of a 12-year-old boy, who later he learned, was his younger brother, William.

Deatherage was in a heavy freight engine, hauling a long train from the other side of the river. The engine was going slowly near the slough. Deatherage saw every move in the tragedy.

Just before he pulled into the round-house in East Louis, he remarked to his companion that numerous lads had been drowned in the slough, and told of seeing another accident as his train had passed. A minute later a telephone message was delivered to him, telling him that his brother had been drowned.

BIG FIRE IN MOUNTAIN TOWN. MALTA, Mont., July 22.—Word has reached here that the business section of Zortman, Mont., was destroyed by fire early yesterday. The loss is estimated at $45,000. Wire communication is cut off to Zortman.

GUN CLUB KEEPER IS SHOT TO DEATH

Efforts of Supposed Slayers to Hide Crime Prove Futile.

PETALUMA, July 22.—The body of Jack Smith, a gun club keeper, was brought here last night by Coroner Frank L. Blackburn with two bullet wounds through his head, and the county officers believe they have another gun club murder mystery on their hands.

Although the officers declare their suspicions are directed in a certain place, they have not yet been able to locate it, and they refuse to give out any information on that point.

How Smith was murdered or why he was not been located, the condition in which he was found points almost unmistakably to a violent death at the hands of others. If Smith committed suicide he adopted a very unusual method.

The body was found on the shore of the Petaluma river, which is a few miles from Petaluma, near the mouth of the Petaluma river.

The discovery of his body was made by a fishing boat. It was floating down with the tide on the Petaluma river. The body was found on the shore of the Petaluma river, which is a few miles from Petaluma, near the mouth of the Petaluma river.

It is the theory of Coroner Blackburn that Smith was shot from ambush with a rifle. After he had fallen dead, it is believed, his slayers bound the body to the shore and left it there.

When Blackburn returned with the body to Petaluma, he sent word of it to Sheriff Jack Smith of Sonoma county, whose headquarters are in Santa Rosa, and the Sheriff, with a couple of deputies, set out to make an investigation of the supposed murder case.

"I found the body in such condition that I do not think Smith was killed before Friday at the earliest," said Coroner Blackburn.

"It looks to me to be almost certainly a plain case of murder. There were two bullet holes in his head, which practically disposes of any possibility that the man was accidentally shot and whoever shot him thought to cover up the unfortunate accident by pitching the body into the river with a weight attached."

PLANING MILL FIRE THREATENS BLOCK

San Francisco Structure Opposite S. P. Depot Badly Damaged.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—What threatened to become a very serious fire was checked by the brigade yesterday afternoon, when a planing mill and tank factory of George Windler at 144 Berry street caught fire shortly after 3 o'clock. It took the firemen half an hour to kill the blaze, but in that short time $25,000 damage was done to Windler's property.

Windler's factory and lumber yard is located on Berry street opposite the Southern Pacific depot at Third and Townsend streets. It is surrounded by wooden buildings utilized for manufacturing purposes and had the blaze obtained a good start the destruction would have been heavy. The fire was confined to Windler's property, although a number of huge piles of lumber next to the mill were scorched and damaged.

Just half an hour before the blaze was discovered by Harry Butler the manager of the commissary department of the Southern Pacific railway, Windler had been on the premises attending to some of his business. He had been over his entire plant, and had seen no signs of a blaze, although a fire had been used in the building—in the power house—during the morning hours. The fire broke out in the building for a short time when he heard the triple alarm and was informed that his building was afire. Hurrying back to the scene he found the firemen at work.

At this juncture the firemen had the fire under control, Chief Murphy and his men having arrived promptly and made the fight quickly. No effort was made to take anything from the burning building, the flames spreading with such rapidity.

TAFT AND WILSON TO OCCUPY SAME PLATFORM

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 22.—President Taft and Governor Wilson, the respective candidates of the Republican and Democratic parties, are to be on the same platform and make speeches in Atlantic City some time between September 30 and October 5, according to an announcement made by the American Road Congress, representing fifty associations, which is to be in session here between those dates. Both accepted invitations to address the congress before they were nominated and their addresses will be non-political.

155 TRAINS A DAY BETWEEN S. F. AND THOUSAND OAKS

ELECTRIC TRAIN AND POWER STATION AT THOUSAND OAKS, NEW RESIDENCE TRACT ON SOUTH-PACIFIC LOOP SYSTEM, BERKELEY.

In a recent article on Western Suburbs in the Scribner's Magazine, several photographs of Thousand Oaks and vicinity in Berkeley, were shown, with favorable comment.

Thousand Oaks is one of the most beautiful natural sites for a residence park in the state. The owners have secured the co-operation of Mark R. Daniels, landscape engineer to plan streets and design the art work used in the tract.

The class of residences started in Thousand Oaks averages "very high." Out of $166,000 worth of houses built or under construction, the average runs $18,500 each.

R. C. Newell of Newell-Murdoch Company, reports a very active inquiry for the moderate-priced homes the firm has been offering to build of late. The easy terms offered in Balmount Park and Northbrae and the fact that the street work is entirely finished and the elaborate electric system of the Southern Pacific is in full operation has attracted a great many business men who wish to have their families near the educational facilities of Berkeley.

"We have some forty or fifty bungalows and medium-sized houses arranged for and hardly a day goes by that a new house is not started in our properties," said Mr. Newell.

"We have recently opened a very fine but small tract called Solano Avenue Terrace which also fronts on the Southern Pacific line near the Thousand Oaks station. This tract is going very rapidly. Lots are medium-sized and very cheap. The street work is of the same high class as that used in Thousand Oaks. We have 155 electric trains each way between this station and San Francisco every day. In addition to this we have two street car lines running into or near the property.

The Newell-Murdoch Company has established an Oakland branch in the First National bank building. The office in charge of T. B. Willmuth, a well-known realty expert.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOTS HIMSELF

STOCKTON, July 22.—Little Lester Cross, 3 years of age, was instantly killed yesterday when a large caliber revolver which he attempted to lift from a table was discharged, the bullet entering his right breast, crossing through the heart and making its exit near the left shoulder.

The mother of the child and its grandparents were in the room when the accident occurred. The child lifted the gun from the table, and upon dropping it owing to its weight the weapon was discharged.

BROOKER NOT TO SERVE ON REPUBLICAN BOARD

ANSONIA, Conn., July 22.—Charles F. Brooker of Ansonia said today he was not a member of the executive committee of the National Republican committee, as previously announced. He had not been appointed, Brooker said, because he had given notice that he would be unable to serve, owing to exactness of business.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS
N. Y. WOMEN WEAR $250,000,000 IN PRECIOUS STONES

Mrs. E. H. Gary's Pearl Necklace Is Valued at Half Million Dollars.

NEW YORK, July 22.—According to an estimate made at the customs house New York's collection of precious stones is far greater than that of any other city in the world, except perhaps London. The gems are collectively valued at $250,000,000. Within thirty days recently over $1,000,000 in diamonds and pearls arrived from Europe and they have been put on at the rate of $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 a year for many years. This does not include large numbers of smuggled gems that find their way here.

Here are some of the New York women whose collections have been much under public notice:

Mrs. William B. Leedes, $340,000 necklace of pearls, $140,000 stomacher of diamonds and emeralds and a $45,000 targa.

Mrs. Robert H. Gary, wife of the chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, $500,000 pearl necklace, each strand of which cost $100,000.

Mrs. Frank J. Gould, $200,000 pearl necklace.

Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor, widow of Colonel John Jacob Astor, $200,000 pearl necklace.

Mrs. John K. Vanderbilt Jr., $175,000 necklace of black pearls; these pearls average $600 each in cost.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, $250,000 diamond chain, set in a half foot long, once the property of Catherine de Russia. Mrs. Belmont also has $40,000 worth of pearls that belonged to Marie Antoinette.

Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, $100,000 diamond necklace, containing two of the largest solitaires in the country.

Mrs. William A. Clark, wife of the copper mine owner, $100,000 pearl necklace, $75,000 in diamonds, emeralds and rubies.

Mrs. J. P. Morgan, $60,000 in diamonds and $75,000 in pearls, emeralds and rubies.

Mrs. George J. Gould, $450,000 ropes of diamonds and pearls and rubies and diamond necklaces.

Mrs. Robert Goetz, $70,000 diamond targa.

Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt, $300,000 diamond serpent chain with ruby eyes.

Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt, $80,000 chain of pearls and rubies and loop composed of 171 diamonds.

Mrs. Ogden Mills, $250,000 in pearl and diamond necklaces.

Mrs. Bradley Martin, $500,000 in necklaces, targas and stomachers.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, the elder, $100,000 in necklaces and other ornaments.

Mrs. Perry Tiffany, $350,000 in diamonds and pearls.

Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury, formerly Mrs. Oliver Cromwell, $300,000 necklaces.

Mrs. Collier E. Huntington, $150,000 in fifteen-strand diamond and pearl necklace.

THE MISTAKE OF THIN CLOTHES

By LILLIAN RUSSELL
(Copyright, 1912 by Lillian Russell.)

THE female form divine is beautiful to behold when seen in well-fitting clothes. Nothing is more lovely than the slim, straight, youthful lines, even in thin, transparent things.

Women with much development should be careful to avoid chiffon and thin materials, especially when they wear so little underneath. The board walk at Atlantic City seems to be the place of places to study women.

It is not my place to criticize women, except in a friendly way, but I must say that the old-fashioned pretty petticoats were far more becoming and fleshy disguising than the present fashion of knickerbockers.

Nothing can be more ludicrous than a thin skirt with the sun penetrating it, showing every unbecoming outline. Surely a woman should stand on a chair in front of a window with a strong light and regard her figure in a mirror before she goes out before an unprotected multitude.

Linen, and even pongee, are too thin to wear without a silk petticoat. Clinging or transparent garments accentuate the figure and thinness of material does not make thinness of figure. In fact, it shows every bulge far more prominently than a thick material would.

It takes only a little strength of character to reduce the outline of any woman. The desire to look well should be stronger than the desire for pastry and potatoes, candy and liquids. If the study which is given to hiding flesh were put on the effort to reduce it a better result would be the reward.

It is only a question of habit; one can get into the habit of dieting as quickly or quicker than in the habit of gorging. I cannot understand the intellect that weakens at the sight of fat-making foods.

I have heard women say that they loathed fat and would do anything in reason to reduce their too fully developed figures, and then have seen them eat candies and drink ice cream sodas all the afternoon instead of walking and drinking lemon juice.

It is so easy to be just as your mind pictured your desires. Only let the mind control and not the senses. You can be just what you have a mind to be; it is all a question of mind and its dominion.

I would be ashamed to do anything which I had made up my mind not to do. I would feel that I had insulted my intelligence. When you make up your mind to do something that is with all reason for your good, and then let some persuasion divert you from your purpose, you visibly acknowledge your weakness of mind. You may not admit it, but the truth is there just the same.

Remember: Your clear mind is your best friend; cultivate an acquaintance with it and respect it.

excellent for cleansing the skin and leaves it soft and smooth. Apply a good cold cream to the face before retiring or before applying powder to the face. I shall be glad to send you the formula for a good cold cream, also the formula for bath bags, which can be substituted for soap, if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

MISS M. B.—I cannot give you any information about the proprietary article you mention. However, there are some good proprietary articles for removing superfluous hair, but I have never heard of one that is permanent. I shall be glad to send you a simple remedy for removing the hair if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

LILLIAN.—If you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope I shall send you a bleach for freckles and my treatment for blackheads, also an astringent lotion which will remedy an oily complexion. I cannot recommend a face powder to you, but advise you to get a good grade of powder, for the cheap powders are nothing but chalk and will ruin the complexion. It is not good to sleep through the night with powder on your face. The face should be cleansed thoroughly before retiring—first with a good cleansing cream and then with plenty of soap and water. Castile or any of the neutral soaps are good and usually agree with any skin.

W. H.—Brilliantine will not cause baldness.

MISS C. T.—Do not tamper with the moles on your face, for not infrequently they cause malignant growths. The best and safest way of having them removed is by the use of the electric needle. Go to a reliable electrolytist and have them removed. I am sending you the formula for the curling fluid.

Answers to Queries

LEESEL—I would not advise you to massage the face more than once daily. Go over the entire face with a rotary motion, using the skin food. This will take about ten minutes. Thank you for your kind words of appreciation. I am delighted to hear that you enjoy my columns so much.

MARGARET F.—I shall be glad to send you formula for an excellent astringent lotion for closing the pores if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope. There is no danger of a cold cream causing a growth of hair on the face if it does not contain animal fat, such as tallow. The vegetable fats, such as wax, will not cause a growth of hair. I shall be glad to send you the formula for the cold cream which I use almost constantly if you care for it.

READER—Use the household ammonia.

Take two-thirds peroxide and one-third ammonia. There is not enough ammonia in the mixture to burn the skin, but in case it should, add a little more peroxide. If the bone of the ankle is large there is no way of reducing it, but if it is just fat you can reduce it by massage, or the following exercise is beneficial: Stand on the toes, then bend the knees as far as possible, still keeping on the toes. Do this about ten times, then lower the heels. Do not wear shoes. Do you use powder? Perhaps this is the cause of your face getting rough. If this is the case, then change the brand of powder or stop its use for a while. Perhaps the soap you use is too strong for your skin. It seems to be. I would advise you to use almond meal instead of soap for a while. This is

Dancer Crushed

NEW YORK, July 22.—Helene Gilbert, the well-known cabaret dancer and understudy of Irene Weston, is dying at St. Joseph's hospital, Far Rockaway, of injuries she received when an automobile in which she and a party of friends were returning from the seashore yesterday ran wild among a group of trees along Broadway, Cedarhurst, L. I., finally demolishing itself and hurling its occupants into the road.

The dancer's skull was fractured, as well as her lower jaw; her face was a mass of bruises, and she was injured internally to a degree that the physicians have not yet been able to ascertain. Her recovery is in question.

None of the others riding in the wrecked machine escaped unscathed and two of the men are likely to succumb to their injuries.

Accused of Theft

STOCKTON, July 22.—Mrs. L. R. Palmer of San Francisco, who until Thursday was the guest of Mrs. Mary H. Perival and her daughter, Mrs. Harry the French Camp home, is in the county jail charged with the theft of a $250 diamond from Mrs. Dickinson.

Mrs. Palmer had been a guest of the Perivals for several days and left last Thursday. Shortly after she came to this city Mrs. Dickinson missed a large solitaire diamond from a ring that she had worn on her finger during Mrs. Palmer's stay. The stone had been taken from its setting by means of pliers.

Mrs. Palmer was taken in custody as she was about to board a train for Oakland yesterday and her trunk was removed to the jail. Everything was closely examined and in one corner among some buttons in a bag at the bottom was a diamond closely answering the description of that taken from Mrs. Dickinson.

To Wed on Liner

NEW YORK, July 22.—As bride-elect of a steamship wedding to be held on board the Canadier Mauretania just before that vessel leaves New York for England next Tuesday, Miss Annette M. Schwartz of New York is inviting her friends to one of the most novel weddings to be held in New York this summer.

Miss Schwartz is to be the bride of E. Alexander Montgomery of Los Angeles.

In honor of the unusual wedding one of the finest saloons of the Mauretania will be decorated with palms and flowers, and the steamship's orchestra will play a wedding march. The ceremony will be followed by a reception, which will be held in the four huge that remain before the Mauretania steams across the Atlantic.

A wedding supper will be served by the Mauretania stevedores after the ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery will start on their honeymoon trip as passengers of the steamship.

OAKLAND'S BOYS AND GIRLS

WILL CARRY OUT PLANS OF 1912

ISABELLE CLUFF.

Students of the class of December, 1910, of the John C. Fremont High School, will carry out the plans outlined by their predecessors of June, 1912. The system of self-government which was advocated by the members of that class will be continued. It has proved a success and has aided the faculty in maintaining discipline in the student body.

The officers of the student body of June, 1912, were: John Kilgore, president; Ruth Slavin, vice-president; Isabelle Cluff, secretary; Elmer Wieden, treasurer; Edward King, sergeant-at-arms; Fred Leve, publicist; Vera Whipple and Harry Boge, senators.

PLAYGROUND GAMES FAST

The game between the Intermediates of Bushrod and the Intermediates of Bay View was the fastest and closest game yet played by the Intermediates. Perhaps the greatest feature of the game outside of its closeness was the twelve strikes out by Carter of the De Fremery team. The Intermediates of Bay View proved to be the big run-getters for the home team; Kenny and Leo did some good batting for the visiting team. The score was 7 to 5 in favor of the De Fremery Intermediates.

While this battle between the Giants was going on at Bay View, the Eagles and the Rockets were playing at the same time over the field at De Fremery Park. This contest was very exciting, as the Eagles had made the boast that they would "rip the ground" with the scalp of the Rockets. As expected, the Rockets had something to say about the scalp. N. Butts was the central figure for the Eagles, hitting a very good game and leading his team in the number of runs. Barney and Connelley were also heavy hitters for the Eagles. Pikes, Roberts and Caspers did some star work for the Rockets. The game ended 13 to 15.

The game between the Juniors of the De Fremery and the Juniors of the Bay View was a very exciting contest. Mosswood played with only seven men and despite this handicap won over the De Fremery Juniors by a score of 9 to 7. The Juniors of the De Fremery were the heavy hitters for the visitors. The work of McElroy in the box was very good. Mason and Webb did the most scoring for the home team.

On Thursday morning the Bantams and Baby Giants clashed in a spirited contest. The Baby Giants led from the start and at no time during the game were they in danger of being headed. The score ended 12 to 7 in favor of the Baby Giants. Fair led both teams in the number of runs scored during the game. R. Pikes pitched a corking good game, the other side finding it hard to solve his curves. The feature of the game was the sensational catch in center field by Larson.

In the afternoon the Cubs and Athletics lined up in battle array. The game was a close one, the Athletics leading 12 to 11 in the ninth. The Athletics won by a score of 12 to 11. The Athletics were the heavy hitters for the home team. The work of the Athletics was very good. The Athletics won by a score of 12 to 11.

TWANG OF GUITAR PROMPTS MURDER

William Clement Confesses Shooting Landis From Ambush at Buckeye.

REDDING, Cal., July 22.—William E. Clement confessed today to having killed William C. Landis near Buckeye Thursday. "I did the job," he told Sheriff Montemore, "and I am not sorry. You may do what you please with me. Landis killed the best friend I had on earth—my mother."

Clement's mother, Mrs. W. C. Bradford, was shot by Landis near Buckeye, a small mining town four miles from Redding, May 31. Landis said he shot in self-defense, declaring Mrs. Bradford had threatened him with a revolver. He was out on bonds.

A tune which suggested the name of his mother, played on a guitar by her, gave Clement the impulse to commit the crime, according to his confession. The Landis and Clement homes are but a stone's throw apart.

CIVIL SERVICE AID FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Tangle Brought on By Bickering Will Be Tackled at Once.

Persistent quarrels and petty bickerings in the Board of Education resulting in the work of the school department being seriously interfered with, has resulted in so grave a matter that the board has agreed to step in to assist at some sort of reorganization of the entire department. The civil service board, through its president, Harrison S. Robinson, this morning announced that it would accept the responsibility and that the work would commence at once.

Separation of the two distinct phases of the work of the department, the educational work in connection with selecting teachers and establishing the curricula of the various schools, and the different work of the board of education, while the business management may be safely handled by the board of education, is a sort of commission form, with the supervision of the directors.

It is claimed that in its gradual extension of duties and enlargement, the school departments has outgrown the methods of work established when it was a small concern with but a few schools to care for. It now has a combination of a huge educational machine and a large business concern as well. It is thought that it may be well to separate these disparate functions.

Vernon Tigers Will Be Competitors of Oaks on Local Ball Fields This Week

OAKS WIN AND LOSE IN SUNDAY'S DOUBLE-HEADER

Cyrus Parkin Slips a Cog Before Lunch, but Patrick Killilay Shows the Gaff in the Afternoon

Against the ancient enemy, San Francisco (in the baseball world) Oakland did very well last week, winning another series by a score of 4 to 3, but against the arch enemy, Vernon, on the week's play we didn't do a whole lot of good for Happpies only lost one during the series up north while he won just as many as we did.

In keeping with all the week, Oakland won and lost. In the morning game on their own preserves B. Sharpe's crew took a coat of whitewash, 3 to 0. In the afternoon contest Oakland smeared on the whitewash 7 to 0.

Mr. C. Fanning was the better selected pitcher in the double header. He pitched for the Oaks in the morning game, and in the afternoon he pitched for the Tigers. He pitched well in both games, but in the afternoon game he pitched for the Tigers and he pitched for the Oaks in the morning game.

For Billum's gang, they glommed eight bingles off the redoubtable Mr. Parkin and they were good enough to help San Francisco get five marks in the run column, and as for a ball game, we know who was on the long end of the score.

KILLILAY AGAIN DOES WELL. Ten thousand fans and fanettes were out to greet the boys on the other side of the bay, and the game was a good one. In the afternoon game, the Oaks took the short end of the score, and in the morning game, the Oaks took the long end of the score.

Mr. "Iron Man" Miller was the hope of the Oaks, but only a hope, for seven runs and eight hits in seven innings cooked his goose. For us it was Mr. Pat Killilay and it looks as if this Mr. Pat Killilay was after the record of Mr. Babe Marquard, for he had fourth straight in his doge book after the game was over.

To detailing the game there isn't much to say, except that Bud's gang outplayed Bill's gang in all angles of the pastime and naturally the victory was an easy one.

Following are the scores of the victory and the defeat.
